INDICTMENT

May 2021 Term—at Alexandria, Virginia

THE GRAND JURY CHARGES THAT:

General Allegations

At all times material to this Indictment:

1. Defendant DIOGO SANTOS COELHO (a/k/a “Omnipotent,” “Downloading,” “Shiza,” and “Kevin Maradona”), was a Portuguese national who resided in Portugal.

2. From at least in or around January 1, 2015 to the present, COELHO controlled and operated the website www.Raidforums.com (the “RaidForums website”). COELHO used the monikers “Omnipotent” and “Downloading” on the RaidForums website and operated the RaidForums website with the help of Administrators.

3. The RaidForums website was hosted on a server located outside the United States.

4. The RaidForums website served as a platform where members could solicit for sale, sell, and purchase contraband, including stolen access devices as defined in Title 18, United States Code, Section 1029(e)(1), and means of identification as defined in Title 18, United States Code, Section 1028(d)(7), hacking tools, and illegal services, such as hacking for hire.

5. An individual could access the RaidForums website without a membership. However, an individual had to sign up for a membership to solicit items for sale or purchase items. The RaidForums website offers four tiers of membership options, including in order of cost: (1) free membership; (2) VIP membership; (3) MVP membership; and (4) God membership. The more expensive the membership, the more access a user gets to the RaidForums website. The God membership, for example, offers almost unlimited access to the RaidForums website and features.

6. The RaidForums website sold “credits” to members, which granted members access to privileged areas of the website and enabled members to “unlock” and download stolen access devices, means of identification, and data from compromised databases, among other items. Members could also earn credits through other means including, but not limited to, by posting instructions on how to commit certain illegal acts.

7. The RaidForums website had different forums where members could post about different subjects and offer items for sale. The forums included “Cracking,” “Leaks,” and “Marketplace,” among others. The “Leaks” forum had a sub-forum entitled the “Leaks Market.” The “Leaks Market” description stated that it was “[a] place to buy/sell/trade databases and leaks.” The “Leaks Market” included for-sale listings for stolen credit card account information, means of identification, and hacked online accounts and databases.

8. COELHO offered an “Official Middleman Service” for a fee on the RaidForums website. More specifically, COELHO offered to accept cryptocurrency from the purchaser and files, including stolen access devices and means of identification, from the seller. COELHO then verified the contents of the files and conversed with the buyer and seller. Once the parties were satisfied, COELHO released the funds to the seller and the files, including stolen access devices and means of identification, to the purchaser.

COUNT 1

(Conspiracy to Commit Access Device Fraud)

THE GRAND JURY FURTHER CHARGES THAT:

9. The Grand Jury re-alleges and incorporates by reference the General Allegations of this Indictment.

10. From at least mid-2016 to the present, in the Eastern District of Virginia and elsewhere, the defendant, DIOGO SANTOS COELHO (a/k/a “Omnipotent,” “Downloading,” “Shiza,” and “Kevin Maradona”), did knowingly and with the intent to defraud, combine, conspire, confederate, and agree with other persons both known and unknown to the Grand Jury, to commit the following offenses:

- a. To knowingly and with the intent to defraud, traffic in and use one and more unauthorized access devices during a one-year period, and by such conduct obtain things of value aggregating $1,000 and more during that period, in violation of 18, United States Code, Sections 1029(a)(2);
- b. To knowingly and with the intent to defraud, possess fifteen and more unauthorized access devices, said conduct affecting interstate and foreign commerce, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1029(a)(3); and
- c. Without the authorization of the issuers of access devices, knowingly and with the intent to defraud, solicit individuals with the purpose of selling unauthorized access devices, said conduct affecting interstate and foreign commerce, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1029(a)(6).

WAYS, MANNERS, AND MEANS

The primary purpose of the conspiracy was to make money through the trafficking in stolen access devices. The ways, manners, and means by which the defendant, DIOGO SANTOS COELHO, and his co-conspirators carried out the primary purpose of the conspiracy included, but were not limited to, the following:

11. It was part of the conspiracy that the defendant owned and operated the RaidForums website.
12. It was part of the conspiracy that the defendant operated the RaidForums website with the help of co-conspirators, who operated as Administrators of the website.
13. It was further part of the conspiracy that the defendant and his co-conspirators posted offers to sell stolen access devices including, but not limited to, credit card account numbers and card verification values, on the RaidForums website.
14. It was further part of the conspiracy that the defendant offered to sell “credits” to users, who could then use these “credits” to purchase stolen access devices on the RaidForums website, among other items.
15. It was further part of the conspiracy that the defendant offered a fee-based service, described as an “Official Middleman Service” on the RaidForums website, which enabled purchasers and sellers to verify the means of payment and contraband files being sold prior to executing the purchase and sale.
16. It was further part of the conspiracy that the defendant and his co-conspirators accepted payment in cryptocurrency in return for the sale of stolen access devices.

OVERT ACTS

In furtherance of the conspiracy, and to effect the objects thereof, the defendant, DIOGO SANTOS COELHO, and his co-conspirators committed overt acts in the Eastern District of Virginia and elsewhere, including, but not limited to, the following:

17. On or about July 24, 2018, COELHO, using the moniker “Omnipotent,” made a posting on the RaidForums website, in which he advertised an “Official Middleman Service.” The posting indicated that the service would enable both buyers and sellers to complete their transactions, and that COELHO would verify the contents of files to ensure buyers received the data that they expected to purchase.

18. On or about October 18, 2018, an unknown co-conspirator using the moniker “mariecurie” made a posting on the RaidForums website, which offered for sale stolen access devices, to wit, usernames and passwords associated with an electronic commerce company in the United States (“Company 1”).

19. On or about October 22, 2018, in the Eastern District of Virginia and elsewhere, an undercover law enforcement officer used eight credits, which the officer purchased on the RaidForums website, to “unlock” and download the Company 1 usernames and passwords that user “mariecurie” offered for purchase.

20. On or about December 16, 2018, COELHO, who was using the moniker “Downloading,” made a posting on the RaidForums website, which offered for sale 2.3 million credit card numbers, including the names, addresses, and phone numbers associated with the credit card numbers, which were purportedly obtained from a breach of records belonging to United States hotels.

21. On or about February 5, 2019, in the Eastern District of Virginia and elsewhere, COELHO, who was using the moniker “Downloading,” informed an undercover law enforcement officer that the stolen credit card information described in paragraph 20 were still available for sale.

22. On or about March 4, 2019, in the Eastern District of Virginia and elsewhere, COELHO, who was using the moniker “Downloading,” provided an undercover law enforcement officer with three stolen access devices, to wit, payment card account numbers, card verification values, expiration dates, and the names associated with the payment cards. COELHO agreed to this exchange to convince the undercover law enforcement officer that “Downloading” could be trusted to sell approximately 1.1 million stolen access devices in exchange for a Bitcoin amount equivalent to $4,000.

23. On or about March 5, 2019, in the Eastern District of Virginia and elsewhere, COELHO, who was using the monikers “Downloading,” “Omnipotent,” and “Shiza,” arranged to both sell and serve as the middleman in the transaction to sell approximately 1.1 million stolen access devices to the undercover law enforcement officer. COELHO received a Bitcoin amount equivalent to $4,000; however, he did not provide the stolen access devices.

24. On or about April 5, 2020, an unknown co-conspirator using the moniker “fairbanksfires” made a posting on the RaidForums website, which offered for sale stolen access devices associated with an online tax filing company in the United States. The stolen access devices included, but were not limited to, social security numbers, email addresses, passwords, and bank routing and account numbers.

25. On or about April 25, 2020, COELHO, who was using the moniker “Omnipotent,” executed his middleman service and aided and abetted “fairbanksfires” in selling stolen access devices to a confidential human source (the “CHS”), who was working with the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The CHS transferred a Bitcoin amount equivalent to $4,000 to COELHO in furtherance of this transaction. COELHO then provided the CHS with a link, which enabled the CHS to download the stolen access devices.

26. On or about April 27, 2020, the CHS communicated to COELHO that the funds could be released to “fairbanksfires.”

27. On or about July 24, 2020, the RaidForums website offered for sale in its Official Database Index a 2015 database, which included stolen access devices containing the names, emails, passwords, and addresses, among other information, belonging to individuals who had accounts with a major broadcasting and cable company in the United States (“Company 2”).

28. On or about July 24, 2020, in the Northern District of Illinois and elsewhere, an undercover law enforcement officer used eight credits, which the officer purchased on the RaidForums website, to “unlock” and download the Company 2 database, as described in paragraph 27.
